"Every Spring Just About Now"

by Mary Ellen Naff
Spring 1992

Every spring, just about now,
we gather again.

Every spring, just about now,
we're happy again.

It's great to see each other,
leave cares behind;
To laugh and talk and rediscover:
What's been happening?
What's on your mind?

Every spring, just about now,
we're in a great mood.
Singing songs, seeing friends,
and eating good food,

And when we leave this place,
our spirits will be renewed.
Yes, every spring (...every spring)
just about now (...just about now)

We'll have a ball!
