Holston Conference Ministry with Children in Poverty

*Let's go, Holston!
Let's bring it home!*

A boy carries blankets for kids at DHS.

This rallying cry guides our efforts to address the needs of children in poverty within the Holston Conference. Congregations are challenged to give $10 and 10 hours of service per average worship attendance to respond to the most vulnerable ones in our neighborhoods, the children we are called to love in Jesus' name.

The conference mission offering served as our initial time of financial giving. So far, Holston congregations have contributed over $188,000. In August, these twelve churches and ministries were awarded grants totaling over $40,000:

- Chattanooga District: The Bethlehem Center for an after-school program and East Ridge UMC for East Ridge Cares 4 Youth
- Cleveland District: Unity Center/Broad Street UMC for DAWN mentors for at-risk youth and Wesley Memorial UMC for an after-school program
- Kingsport District: Holly Spring UMC for Spring Break VBS
- Knoxville District: Church Street UMC for Beacon of Hope Children's Ministry and Wesley House Community Center for after-school recreational and education support
- Maryville District: First UMC for a partnership with the Lanier Elementary School

The next grant application deadline is November 15. Applications are encouraged for new and existing ministries that connect our congregations to children in our communities.

The conference mission offering was only the kick-off. Every local church is challenged to meet the $10 per average attendance goal to continue to fund grants for ministries to children in poverty in the Holston Conference.

In addition to meeting the financial goal, congregations are challenged to give 10 hours of service for children in poverty. Our churches are already connecting to children through ministries like school partnerships, backpack ministries, tutoring, coat drives, and Christmas events. How else is your church in service to community children? What might God be calling you to do next on behalf of these precious lives?

At waytogive.holston.org, please record hours of service and a brief description of how you are connecting to the children in your community. If we meet our goals of 10 hours of service per average worship attendance, we will give over 685,000 hours of service throughout the Holston Conference for children in poverty.

Poverty matters.
You matter more.
So let's go, Holston!
Let's bring it home!
Thank you for your work on behalf of children in poverty.

You'll never know how many lives
you've changed.

Way to Go!
Way to Give!
