A Word from the Editor

Let me take a moment to point out the obvious. We have never done it like this before!

You have in your hands, Volume 2 of The 2018 Journal of the Holston Annual Conference. This volume only contains the statistical tables. Volume 1 contains all the reports and other items you would expect to find in the Journal. It will be published at a later date.

Basically, we were able to get the statistical tables done so quickly because we kept them in the larger page format (8.5x11). That is the size that the program prints the pages. In the past, we have had to manually shrink the pages to make them fit into a 6x9 format. This was a time consuming process. Unfortunately, Volume 1 is still in that format and will take us longer to get it ready to go to the printers. I believe that you will appreciate the larger page format of Volume 2. The numbers will be easier to read and the landscape orientation should make it easier to use as well. In the future, both volumes will be printed in the 8.5x11 format to cut down on preparation time and, hopefully, to make them both more readable.

You will also note that things are grouped differently. In previous journals, we broke things up based upon groups of columns with all churches A-Z then listed with that group. In this Volume, we break things up by groups of churches A-Z and then all the columns for that group. I know that sounds confusing, but as you begin to look at the new layout, I think you will find it easier and more intuitive to use than previous formats.

Finally, for those that have purchased copies of the Journal, we will be shipping them to you as they are printed. That means that you will have received this volume first and will then receive Volume 1 when it is completed.

 Reverend Terry Goodman
